LOCAL CAR SERVICE TIED UP ON PITTSBURGH RAILWAYS LINES

Men Quit Work Shortly After Last Midnight, when Traffic Ceased

NO TROUBLE IS ANTICIPATED

Service on the interurban lines of the Pittsburgh Railways Company ceased at 2:15 o'clock this morning and today the general public is having a splendid chance to walk. At the hour named above the last car was placed in the Charleroi barn, the structure locked up and all the men went home except the watchman. Today not a wheel is turning on the entire system, either on the interurban or in the city, and conditions will not be improved until some agreement is reached between the street car men and the receivers of the company.

The strike in a great measure came as a surprise to the patrons of the lines, at least in this section. While it was generally known that there were differences between the employees and the company, it was believed that such arrangements would be made that traffic would not be tied up. However, in this respect the public was disappointed, for the men ran their cars to the various barns immediately after midnight, where they were put away and shortly thereafter all of them left for their homes.

No trouble is anticipated during the suspension as the union officials have given strict orders to all members to keep away from the barns and to prevent all disorder. In Pittsburgh the receivers asked the city for an additional detail of officers to be stationed at the various barns, but this is precautionary, as outside elements might attempt to raise some disturbance, using the suspension as a cloak to stage some outbreak.

Locally the absence of street car traffic will discommode a great many people both up and down the river, who travel to and from their work over the lines of the Pittsburgh Railways lines, and who, during the next few days, will have to find other means of reaching their places of employment. This will be particularly true of the new plant at Allenport, many of whose employees live in Charleroi. However the hope is general that the differences may be amicably adjusted within a few days.

The report of the death of Arthur LaRose, injured last Thursday evening in an accident in North Charleroi, and which came from Monessen, turns out to be incorrect. The young man is said to be on a fair road to recovery.

The Germans say they will not accept the peace terms. Wonder what kind they would have imposed had they been given the opportunity.

WATCHMAN TO GUARD WEST NEWTON CROSSING

For the past generation a growing list of deaths and injuries at the grade crossing of the B. & O. railroad at West Newton has grown, and at last a method of protection will be established.

Borough officials and representatives have joined hands and a watchman will guard the crossing for a period of 16 hours a day. Watch boxes 4x6 feet will be erected for the protection of the watchman. Auto drivers will receive this news with pleasure, as it will tend to minimize the danger at that point.

ELECTRIC SIGN IS DAMAGED

Vandals Cut Wires and Break Globes on Big Display Board

BOYS WERE THE PERPETRATORS

Vandals did several hundred dollars' worth of damage to the big electric sign of T. L. Dainty, located on river hill opposite Charleroi, Tuesday. Late in the afternoon a number of boys who had congregated at that point proceeded to tear electric wires loose from their fastenings, while with stones and poles they broke light globes and their sockets. One end of the big sign was thus put completely out of commission and it will require several days work on the part of Mr. Dainty to repair the damage done.

He saw the boys from this side of the river, but before he could reach the top of the hill the boys had left. He was too far away to recognize any of the vandals but he believes he knows from where they came and an investigation is being made.

This big sign is not only believed to be the largest ever made but also the only one of its kind ever constructed. It is made from plans originated by Mr. Dainty which are not yet altogether complete, and as a business venture it has been meeting with considerable success. The action of the young vandals in destroying the property was an act unexpected and every effort will be made to ascertain their identity.

CAPT. JAMES E. GEE WILL BE A CANDIDATE

Sharpers at Work In Passing "Split" Money

Secret service operative Wm. H. Houghton of the treasury department took two Brownsville negroes Addison Lasiter and James Buchar to Pittsburgh on Tuesday to answer a charge of offering counterfeit money.

These two men were arrested Monday afternoon by the chief of police of Brownsville and placed in the lockup. The immediate charge against the men is passing a $20 bill that had been split. Lasiter, it is alleged, first passed the bill in the St. Charles hotel bar, giving it to the bartender and receiving the change. Later the bartender in looking over his money made a closer inspection of the bill and noted that it had a suspicious look. He remembered that he had received it "phony" money across. The prisoner from Lasiter and when the man came again told him about it, and said investigation.

Big Circus Arrives for Exhibition in Charleroi

This is the first circus of the season to visit Charleroi. The Hagenbeck Wallace Circus comes to this city from Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus and other nearby cities, where it has been highly endorsed.

By D. VAN VALKENBERG
Written Expressly For This Paper.

Charleroi has today taken on a circus attire, the event being the first circus of the season in the Carl Hagenbeck & Great Wallace Circus consolidated, which arrived in this city at 9 o'clock this morning from Butler, Pa.

Two performances will be given here today, the matinee at 2 o'clock and the night performance at 8 o'clock. The doors will be thrown open an hour earlier to accommodate the crowds who desire to see the Carl Hagenbeck Menagerie. The grounds are in good shape to receive this mammoth three-ring circus, with its 1000 people, 300 horses and a collection of animals that have won world-wide distinction.

COAL PRODUCTION IS ON INCREASE

Coal production in the Pittsburgh district for the past week has been steadily increasing not so much for steam purposes but because of the rapid increase in like shipments, which is enabling a fuller operation of many mines. Moreover many of the large industries which have depleted their stock piles are also in the market for coal. The production is now estimated at 68 per cent.

INJUNCTION HOLDS AGAINST THE BOROUGH OF BELLEVERNON

FIREMEN WILL HAVE NO MORE CARNIVALS

The West Brownsville firemen at a meeting held Monday evening decided they will not again have a carnival held under their auspices. The merchants and citizens of the borough have so generously contributed to the support of the firemen and to the purchase of the new engine that the fire company feels bound to do nothing in any way detrimental to the business interests and general harmony of the borough, says the Brownsville Telegraph. If other carnivals go to that town they will not in any way be under the control of the firemen, nor for their benefit.

USE OF PARK IS LIMITED

So Monessen Finds Out After Spending Money for Improvement

HUNTER SHOWS CAUSE TROUBLE

Monessen citizens are somewhat "het up" over the action of a representative of the Carnegie Steel Company, who came up from Pittsburgh on Tuesday for the purpose of stopping the performances of the Harry C. Hunter shows, now exhibiting in Electric park of that town. It is said the interference was not on account of the character of the show or that it happened to be Harry C. Hunter. The same obstacle would have been encountered with any other show. The matter reverts to the right of the athletic committee to hold such an entertainment without first consulting with the Steel Hoop officials.

It seems that when the grounds of the company were turned over to the town for the benefit and use of the general public that the company felt there was a reservation on such entertainment as circuses, where the athletic committee felt that they had unlimited use of the park as long as nothing of an objectionable character was brought in. A conference was held Tuesday forenoon but no decision was reached at that time, but later in the day it was decided that the Carnegie company should be paid $75 for the use of the grounds.

It was something of a shock to the people over there to learn that after the borough had expended about $4,000 to put the grounds in shape for use not only of the citizens but employees of the company, their jurisdiction was somewhat limited. However the shows will continue all week as already announced.

Judge Reppert Decides In Favor of the Local Taxi Company

COURT SAYS ORDINANCE INVALID

Judge E. H. Reppert of the Fayette county courts on Tuesday morning handed down a decision in the case of the Taxi Transportation Company of Charleroi against the Borough of Belle Vernon, in which the plaintiff sought to restrain the borough officials from maintaining high license fees for taxi service in that borough. The preliminary injunction granted to the taxi transportation company, it is now decreed, should be made perpetual.

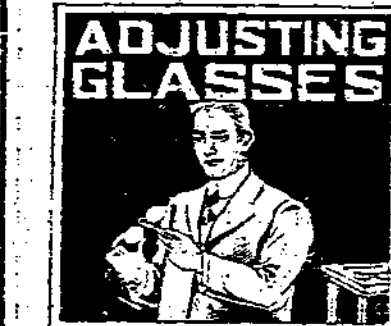

It was set forth in the case that on the 7th day of May 1910, the defendant borough enacted an ordinance fixing schedule of license fees, and providing for their collection. For truck busses the fee was placed at fifty dollars per annum for each bus. Failure to pay the fee subjected the offender to arrest and the payment of a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or in default imprisonment in the county jail for thirty days. It was further provided that each day's violation of the ordinance should be deemed a separate offense. The plaintiff at the time of the suit operated seven busses. After the ordinance went into effect the defendant proceeded to enforce it by arresting plaintiff's drivers.

The plaintiff then filed a bill asking for an injunction, alleging that the fees were unreasonable and discriminatory; that the penalties imposed are so drastic as to be a denial of the right to test its validity; the manifest intention being to force compliance with its requirements for the payment of the fees rather than risk the consequences of a refusal; that therefore the provisions of the ordinance are illegal and void. A preliminary injunction was granted restraining the defendant from interference with plaintiff's employees. The defendant contends that the court has without jurisdiction the plaintiff having an adequate remedy by appeal to the Quarter Sessions Court under the borough act of 1915. It is aggrieved by the ordinance. The court held that the provisions imposing heavy penalties of fine and imprisonment, cumulative day by day, for failure to observe and obey the requirements of the Borough Act are invalid because their effect is to deny the plaintiff the right to be heard, and decreed that the preliminary injunction should be made perpetual.

The sixty-eight suits brought against Monongahela grocers and retail fruit and produce dealers were for use not only of the citizens but employees of the company, their jurisdiction was somewhat limited. However the shows will continue all week as already announced.

LACK CO-OPERATION

The Washington Observer in its issue of the 14th inst., referring to certain official conditions which prevail at the county court house says:

"We hear much these days about cooperation and coordination of effort. Every one who went to war or was engaged in the activities of the organizations back home realizes more than they ever did how little would have been accomplished and how almost impossible it would have been to have won had not everyone worked together for the common good."

"We believe that the spirit of the war time, will continue for all times, more or less, especially among those citizens who fought on the other side or worked on this side for the success of the war. There is a new ideal working in the minds of many people and those who are in positions of trust and authority are recognizing their obligation to render the greatest service by cooperating with others, forgetting personal ambitions and rising above mere petty jealousies."

"One place where we fail, however to find this spirit is among the officials of our county who are entrusted with the county's business, especially in the office of the county controller."

For some reason the Controller does not seem to move in the spirit of the times, does not appear to grasp the fundamental idea of service. He still seems to feel that his own personal opinions, his own selfish ambitions, his antagonisms against his political enemies must be carried through regardless of the public interest or the public good. And this in spite of the fact that so many times the county commissioners have gone out of their way to appease and please him.

"If we had this spirit manifested among our public spirited organizations, in our churches, in our lodges or anywhere else in public life everything would be chaotic. We would be in a state of Bolshevism because the people would not stand for such action and would overthrow the existing order of things wherever they found them."

"The Observer regrets to find this spirit in an official who could be of such great service to the county. If the present controller were simply misguided, if he only made mistakes of judgment, he could be forgiven. But in his opposition to so many public matters in which all of us are interested he has taken a position which has neither reason nor good sense."

"The controller's latest manifestation of opposition is against the proposed election for the passing upon the issue for bonding the county for $1,000,000 for road building. The controller has a perfect right to oppose this financial plan, but he has no right moral or legal to oppose giving the voters of this county the right to pass upon this issue."

"The controller issuing a rather doubtful legal claim in failing to give his approval to the purchase of supplies to hold up the election on the ground that the county has not the money for the holding of such an election, when he knows this to be false and misleading."

"If the county Controller can defy the wishes of 30,000 voters of this county, if he has the power to keep the voters from expressing their opinion on such a vital question as the improvement of our public highways. The Observer suggests that the only remedy would be to send him to Holland to keep company with the Kaiser, for no ruler of Europe ever had such an arbitrary power as this."

"The county commissioners or not, the Good Roads association, have entered into an agreement with the State Highway department to build certain highways. This agreement involves the expenditure by the county of approximately $1,500,000. The state of approximately $1,500,000 can soon prove to the state that it is willing to lend its credit by providing for this $750,000 or more. Washington county will not be able to take advantage of the State Highway program."

"Why any man in an official position such as the controller of this county holds, would even attempt to jeopardize Washington county's chance for road improvement, why he should oppose the judgment of the public spirited men of the Good Roads association who have spent months of their time and much money working out a plan which would be to the advantage of this county no one can understand. The only explanation is that the controller is unable to appreciate his own position and the rights of his 30,000 fellow citizens whose servant he is. His taking a position, even though he may ultimately prove to be right, against the other voters of the county who have no way to express their opinion can only be explained by the general feeling that the controller has an exaggerated idea of his own opinion and of his own judgment."

"The controller may have all the intimate pride and exalted feeling of himself as was possessed by the Kaiser himself, but that fact does not make him right and all the rest of the people wrong; he may have more technical legal power than some of us believe he has, but there is a right way and a decent way and a just way of using that power and there is another way of using it which works justice and ultimately is to the financial detriment of every taxpayer."

"When all the world today is trying to make peace, when the spirit of the times breathes cooperation and harmony and justice, it is sad to see any public official take a position which is so contrary to all these ideas and ideals."

"We hope that the controller may ultimately see light—and if he doesn't see it, surely there is some way to prevent the people from sharing with him the darkness of his own unreason."

THE OLD TENTH

Efforts are being made by the people of Pittsburg to have the members of the One Hundred and Tenth Regiment, now at Camp Dix for demobilization, parade in that city before the men finally disperse for their homes. What may come of these efforts is not yet known, although friends of the regiment in this section of the State hope Mayor Babcock and his committee may be successful in their efforts to have the regiment appear in the proposed parade.

Twenty years ago, when the old Tenth Regiment arrived in San Francisco from the Philippine Islands, on their way home, it was Pittsburg citizens that made it possible for the returning soldiers to travel across the continent without expense. And what a wonderful demonstration they received in the Iron City that day when President McKinley came on from Washington and made a notable address at Schenley Park.

Three years ago, when the regiment returned from the Mexican border, after a hard tour of duty, they were received by the people of Pittsburg in a most cordial manner, and were made guests of the city.

Now on their return to France, after participating in the great war for civilization, in which they had more casualties than any other regiment in the National Guard and National Army, and were only exceeded by four regiments in the regular establishment, the people of Pittsburg wish to again greet this gallant regiment, and show the members how glad they are to see them return.

We hope the arrangements can be made, for it would be pleasing not only to the citizens of the big city, but likewise to all other residents of this section of the State. The home towns will take care of their own receptions after all the others are through.

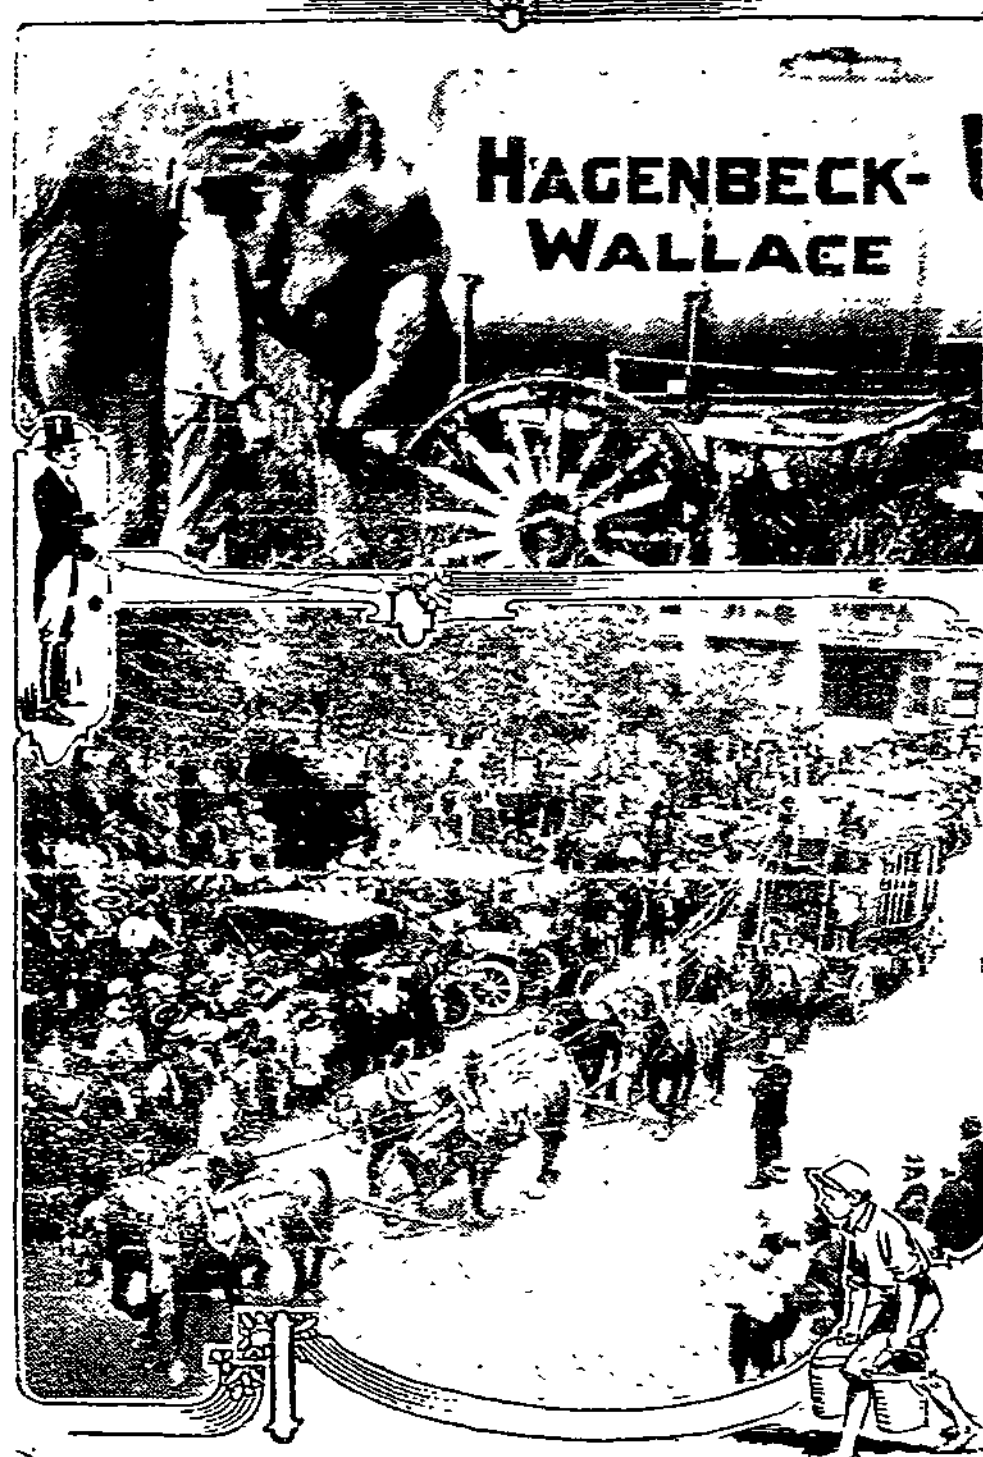

Of course the proposed flight across the Atlantic is simply experimental, for we need to know much about trans-oceanic air voyages, but what experiences the navigators pick up in these journeys will be valuable in providing for a more stabilized system. It will be a wonderful feat to fly across the Atlantic, but in a few years we may look upon it as a commonplace occurrence.

Monongahela merchants who have been haled before magistrates to account for their deficiencies in weights and measures were no doubt surprised to learn the fact that their scales were so much out of order. They have also learned a great deal more about the laws of weights and measures than they ever knew before.

Now that the Victory Liberty Loan campaign is over the candidates will begin to make their appearance, and if reports are true, the woods will be full of them before primary day in September.

Now we must take care of peace treaties with Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey. Wonder if they will take so much time as the German treaty.

TO PROTECT THE ROADS

The Eyre bill now before the Legislature at Harrisburg, which has for its purpose the protection of the improved highways of the state, is being amended in order to modify somewhat the restrictions placed upon traction engines when used upon the roads. The purpose of the measure is to protect the highways from being destroyed by tractors after they have been once improved, and providing a penalty for any violation of the law.

While it may be the original measure was too drastic, yet the people generally will approve of any regulation which the Legislature may impose on these engines, which have heretofore used their proved roads the same as other vehicles, although they have been a very destructive element. Now the State proposes to adopt such regulations as will preserve for the people the highways as they are improved, and prevent their practical destruction by machines that should not be allowed upon them.

A few years ago a brick road in an adjoining township was practically destroyed, after it had been constructed at great expense, by a traction engine which was used in hauling supplies to another piece of road which was under construction at that time. This road was improved by the township, which has never been able to repair the damage done at that time and the highway today is going from bad to worse.

The State is providing other regulations for the protection of improved roads, which the people will approve, for they have seen that selfish interests would not be long in destroying that which is constructed by the people's money for the benefit of the people.

Evidently we have a new era dawning in the management and preservation of improved highways.

Troop demobilization at camps is said to be held up because of lack of necessary blanks which the war department has not furnished. That does not add to the good humor of the men, who are ready to quit the war game and go home. What they want is their discharge—not explanations.

portant act that is embodied in the program of events with the Carl Hagenbeck Great Wallace Circus, would entail a chronological feat that would be unreasonably long. Suffice to say, from the start to the finish, the three rings and the performing stages are going full blast every minute of the two-and-a-half hours of fun and frolic. The trained animals hold a noteworthy spot on the program and are but a forerunner of what follows.

Tickets may be procured for both performances in advance. There will be two performances, rain or shine, under the latest constructed water-proof tents.

"DRY" DRINK WITH AN AWFUL "KICK"

West Virginia, although a "dry" state by a vote of the people, is the home of a product which, it is said, will make a man forget his home and friends and cause him to do most unusual things. This concoction has been manufactured in that state for a number of years, supposedly a harmless and refreshing beverage, but with the introduction of prohibition the brew has suddenly developed a "kick" that makes the old time liquor seem like soda water in comparison. An Elkins, W. Va., paper in speaking of this beverage says:

"The manufacture of the apparently innocent but in reality powerful devastating beverage known as 'Old Hen' in Gilmer and Calhoun counties, has grown to such alarming proportions that steps are being taken by officers of the state prohibition department to break up the practice. It is said that many farmers in these counties, particularly in Steer Creek valley, turn out the mixture even more frequently than they make buttermilk, although it is made strictly for family use."

"After a recent visit through that section an officer of the department reports finding a supply of 'Old Hen' in almost every farm house. He says that for his own information, as well as that of the department, he made a special investigation of the methods of manufacture and effects of the beverage on the average human."

"A receipt found scratched with a nail on the mantel shelf of a cabin in the mountains according to the officer, gave the following formula:

"One-half bushel of meal or chop, four gallons of water, four pounds of brown sugar, three pounds of raisins or prunes, one cake of yeast and the juice of three lemons. Let stand in a warm place for eight days stirring once each day. Strain through a milk strainer and let set for two days longer. Re-strain and serve with cracked ice with equal proportions of grape juice and carbonated water."

"It is said that when properly prepared it makes a very palatable drink but has a way of kind of sneaking up on a man. There seems to be no way of foretelling just how much to take and still remember anything about what happens. The officer states that the first drink gave him a sort of blank feeling in the head and that after that he went out of himself. Afterward he says, they told him that he whipped three of the hired men, burned down a stable and rocked a funeral procession for eight miles."

"Cy Lee, colored fisherman of note says that he became across a 'settin' of 'Old Hen' in the woods up on Buffalo creek last summer; that the first two drinks made him root up all the young saplings in the vicinity, and that after he had consumed about a dipper full he went out and pulled up full grown trees."

"Warning is given by those who claim to know, against placing 'Old Hen' in any closed vessel. It invariably blows the cork out of a bottle as soon as you get it in and if the cork is too tight the bottles invariably gives way to the pressure. It is always made and kept in an open stone jar or, when made in large quantity in an open keg or barrel. It is said that while making a raid in Pocahontas county recently an officer who had been using a brick to break a lock on a closet carelessly laid the brick across the mouth of a jar containing 'Old Hen' and in three and a half minutes it blew the brick through the roof."

Lake of Sulphate.

A lake near Biggar, Saskatchewan, and about three hundred miles north-west of Regina, has been found to be saturated with sodium sulphate, and the deposit under the lake and along the edge to be nearly 97 per cent pure sulphate. The mineral is used extensively in the manufacture of sulphuric acid, in photography and other industrial purposes. The lake occupies an area of about two hundred acres. The edge is muddy, but on boring down a solid bed of mirabilite crystals is found.

French Port Regains Trade.

While Havre was still young the seafaring men of Honneur conquered Newfoundland, founded Quebec and established numerous trading posts in India. Much of the town's commerce was gradually absorbed by Havre. At the outbreak of the great war, however, Honneur had a prosperous export trade with England in dairy products, fruit and vegetables, and a considerable quantity of lumber was imported direct from the Scandinavian countries.

Was Last Polish King.

In 1795, on the 11th of April, Stanislaus Poniatowski, the last king of Poland, died. Poniatowski ascended the Polish throne in 1764. The condition of Poland required a strong man on the throne to keep the country from ruin, and Stanislaus lacked the necessary strength and statesmanship. Russia, Prussia and Austria divided this kingdom among them and the deposed king retired to Petrograd on a pension, where he died in 1795.

Equal to the Occasion.

"Speaking of accommodating hotel managers," said a traveler, "the best I ever met was in a provincial town. I reached the hotel late in the evening. Just before I retired I heard a scampering under the bed and saw a couple of large rats just escaping. I at once complained at the office. The manager was as serene as a summer breeze. 'I'll fix that all right, sir,' he said. 'Boots! Take a cat to room 15 at once!'"

Stranger to Western World.

The Asiatic zoological expedition, sent into the South Chinese mountain province of Yunnan to investigate its range of animal life, succeeded in securing several fine specimens of the serow, which is a stranger to the western world. The serow is a mountain dweller, somewhat like the chamois. It is wary and fleet and takes a dizzy and seemingly impossible course among its native crags.

Country's Dark Days.

The saying, "not worth a continental," came from the fact that the continental currency, issued by the continental congress, was worthless, or nearly so, during the revolution and after. As the continental congress had no power to levy taxes it was unable to redeem its promises to pay. Besides, the country was flooded with counterfeiters which could not be detected.

Astonished Daddy.

June is having some difficulty in settling upon the proper title for her father. The other day she was playing with one of his collars when she tore it. Just then she heard him coming upstairs, and rushing to the top step called in distressful tones: "Oh, daddy, I have tore my hubble's collar!"

Mind That Is Truly Free.

I call that mind free which is jealous of its own freedom, which guards itself from being merged in others, which guards its empire over itself as nobler than the empire of the world.—William Ellery Channing.

Baby's Locomotion.

Merrill's father had just been learning to drive his car. The baby was just learning to walk, and she walked sideways. One day Merrill ran into the house and said: "Oh, mamma, come and see the baby skidding!"

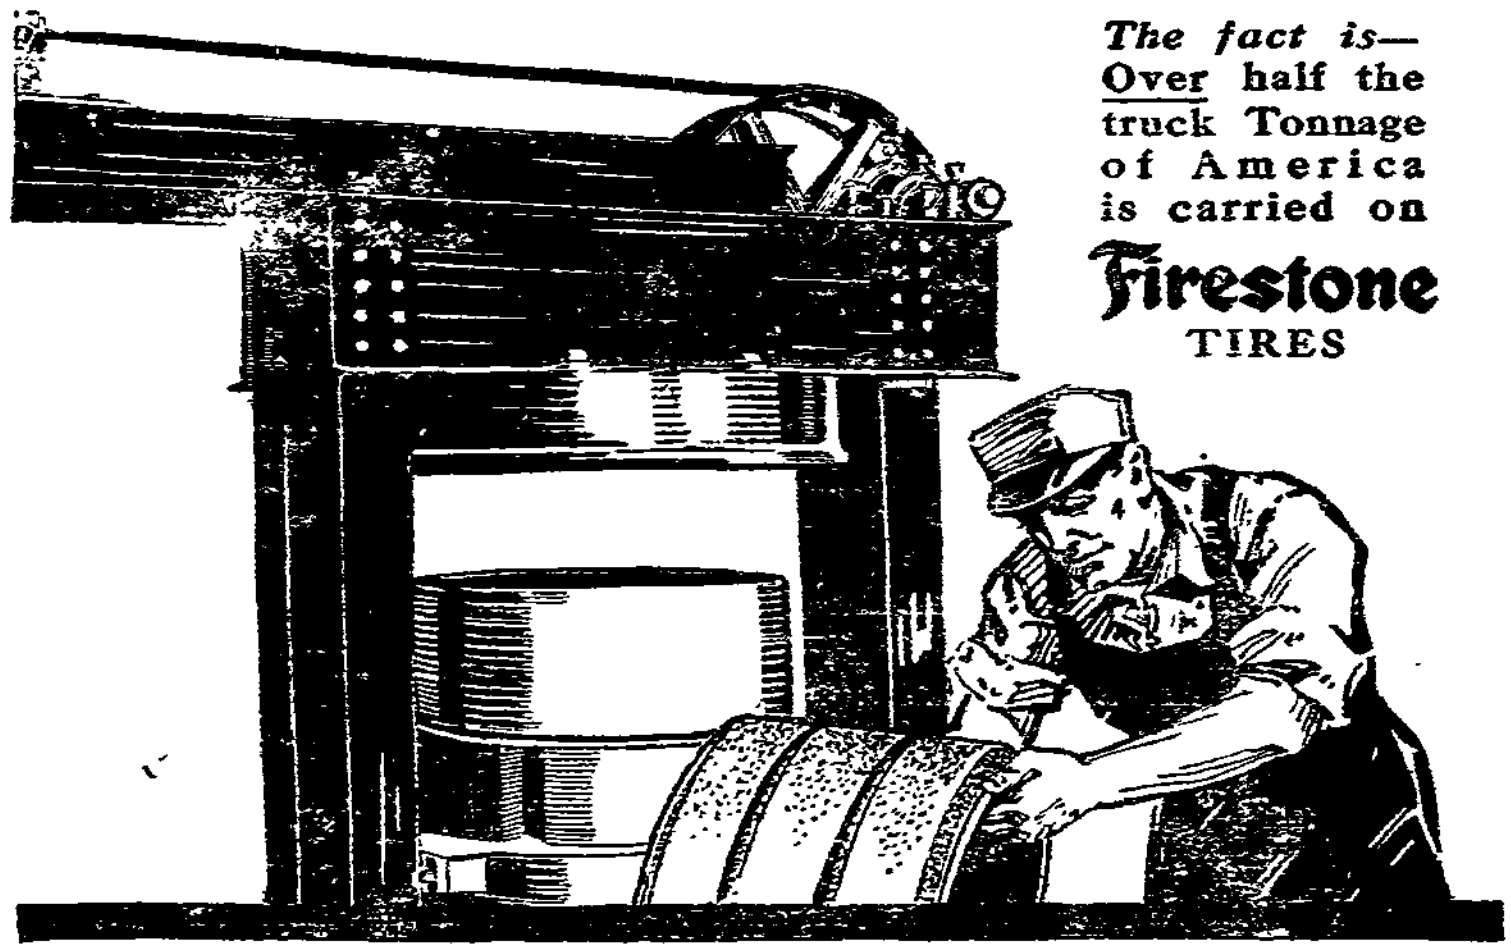

Not Guilty Here.

"Of all the left-handed compliments designed to keep mere man in a happy frame of mind," remarked the facetious philosopher, "the one about a man being handy about the house is the worst."—Indianapolis News.

CHARLEROI PEOPLE

The quick action of simple witch-hazel, hydrastis, camphor, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash, will surprise Charleroi people. One girl with weak, strained eyes was helped by a single application. Her mother could hardly sew or read because of eye pains. In one week she too was benefited. We guarantee a small bottle of Lavoptik to help any case weak, strained or inflamed eyes. Aluminum eye cup free. Hennings Drug Store, corner Fifth and Mc-

Douglas Fairbanks, the most daring, dashing, brilliant, breezy, never say die actor of motion pictures in "The Knickerbocker Buckaroo," his latest Artercraft photoplay, will be the main attraction at the New Million Dollar Grand all next week starting Monday morning, May 19. The picture is the most pretentious the smiling, lively Doug has ever produced. It cost a quarter of a million dollars, took six solid months to make, used up many thousands of feet of film, required hundreds of actors, including cowboys, Mexicans, New York clubmen, pretty girls, villains and others, and necessitated the construction and leasing of magnificent settings. Every foot of film is packed with punch and laughter.

Comedy will be the keynote of the Keith vaudeville bill, consisting of nine acts, at the Davis Theatre, twice daily, during the week which begins Monday afternoon, May 19. "For Pity's Sake," a travesty on the old-time melodrama, will be presented under the direction of C. B. Maddock by Charles Durray and a cast of twelve. After the fashion of Everett Shinn's comedies, "More Sinned Against than Usual," "Hazel Weston, the Prince's Daughter" and "Myrtle Clayton or Wrong from the Start," "For Pity's Sake" is a rampant "meller drammer" and satirizes in very exuberant fashion the 10, 20, 30 of almost forgotten seasons.

MORE EFFICIENCY IN NEW LIGHTING SYSTEM

A new plan of lighting for South Brownsville was presented at a meeting of the council of that borough on Monday evening last. By a new arrangement of the lights the borough will receive 34,020 candle power instead of 15,220 and at an increased cost of but $770 per year. The new system was explained to members of the council by a representative of the West Penn Power Company. Later the proposal was referred back to the light committee, which had cooperated with the West Penn Company in preparing this improved system of lighting.

The change in principle is from the arc to the Tungsten. It is proposed to use six 600-candle power lights, thirty-nine 400-candle power, forty-two 250-candle power and fifty-four 80-candle power, instead of 26 arcs, seventeen 80-candle power and 101 60-candle powers.

Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in the study of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, Steven Horvath of Charleroi and Martha Jentetta Metz of North Charleroi, were united in marriage by the pastor of the church, the Rev. John R. Burson. The ring ceremony was used. Charles Chessure of North Carolina, was the best man and the bride was attended by Miss Genevieve Weber of North Charleroi. The study was decorated for the occasion, cut flowers and ferns being used in profusion. The young couple will reside in North Charleroi, where they their house already furnished and ready for occupancy.

The Fifteenth Engineers have been demobilized and it is expected that the men will get away from Camp Sherman for home some timetoday. Special trains will carry them to Columbus and it may be that similar arrangements will bring them into Pittsburgh. The Charleroi contingent should arrive home on Friday.

Passenger trains on the Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad today because of the strike of the street car men in Pittsburgh. Passenger travel on the lower end of the Division was quite heavy this morning and will continue so as long as there is a suspension of trolley car traffic.

The administration has adopted the Knox plan practically of assisting in Chinese finance. Six years ago when the Democracy came into power, the Knox policy, which had been adopted by the Taft administration was put aside by Secretary Bryan, only to be taken up at this late day by the same people who rejected it.

The time limit set by the Supreme Court for Judges A. D. McConnell and Daniel F. Snyder to decide the fate of the 174 applicants for retail liquor licenses in Westmoreland county or show cause why a mandamus should not be issued, expired Wednesday evening and the case had not been settled.

The Macbeth-Evans factory shut down for the afternoon, to allow the employees to attend the circus.

Trains arriving in Charleroi at 10:16 and at noon time were loaded to the capacity of the coaches, many of the passengers getting off at Charleroi to visit the circus. The street car strike caused many others to use the trains to points north of Charleroi.

AMERICAN LEGION
MEETS WITH FAVOR

Lieut. A. W. Johns, commissioned representative from the Monessen draft district to the caucus in St. Louis which met last week, for the purpose of forming the American Legion, has returned home filled with enthusiasm and information for the soldiers, sailors and marines of his district. There were 1026 delegates present, but Lieut. Johns was the lone representative outside of Allegheny county, east of Johnstown.

Two points of policy stand out most clearly in the formation of this organization, Americanism and Non-Partisanship. Every State in the Union except South Carolina was represented, and a splendid spirit of enthusiasm prevailed. A State convention will be held in Harrisburg in September at which time a permanent organization will likely be effected. Local units will also be organized in the different communities and all of these will be entitled to delegates to represent them at the State convention. The Legion is expected to be an organization for the men of the great war similar to the Grand Army of the Republic which was formed for the benefit of the soldiers of the civil war.

Jack Carroll and Earl Wagner, former members of Company A, 110th Infantry, left for Philadelphia last night to take part in the review and demonstration being held in that city today in honor of the men of the Twenty-eighth Division. The Fifty-fifth Infantry Brigade will parade as a unit under command of Col. "Joe" Thompson while Col. John Aiken will be in command of the 110th. The men are guests of the city of Philadelphia.

The cause of the street car strike now on is for an advance in wages. The yearly scale expired on the first of May, prior to which time the men made a demand for an advance of 12 cents per hour. The present wage rate is 43, 46 and 48 cents per hour.

The Wilson bill to wipe out partisan elections in third class cities is now with Governor Sprout for action. The measure only affects Monongahela in this county.

WOMEN BACKING THE SOLDIER BOYS
When the history of the war has been written, the work done by the women at home will impress itself upon the nation as few even now realize. Literally, millions of women left their homes and took up war activities into which women had never before been called, and many more at home devoted long hours at work in knitting and preparing surgical dressings for the boys "over there." Some may have worked at the expense of health and are now suffering from headaches, backache, dragging-down pains or some derangement. It should be remembered that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for more than forty years has been restoring such women to health and strength, and is now recognized as a standard remedy.
